DEDICATION

The 1952 Campus is dedicated to those students from many lands whose coming to Pasadena City College has broadened the mutual understanding of both foreign and American heritages and greatly enriched so many lives.

PROLOGUE

asadena City College has been greatly honored by the attendance of so many students from afar. They have taught us, who are natively here, much about their people and their countries, and have adapted themselves admirably to the ways of American life. The charm of distance has brought us together: we have had friendly and worthwhile experiences; we have given and taken freely of the knowledge each has to share. Because these associations have yielded acquaintance with so many interesting people and their environs, it is the privilege of the 1952 Campus staff to present in this book glimpses of places familiar to each in his own homeland.

Principal

Among the thousands of students attending PCC, there are each year many young people of foreign birth. This year we have 173 such students representing 45 foreign lands.

PCC has a great opportunity to provide for the foreign students an understanding of all that is best in our American tradition. Those foreign students who will stay to become American citizens learn here to love this country and know and like us. Those who will return to their native lands to be leaders there learn here to understand and appreciate the American way of life.

These foreign students also contribute much. Contact with them gives all of us a better appreciation of the problems of people in other lands. Our splendid tutorial service helps Pasadena students to understand the languages of these foreign students, and the latter to understand better their class work.

We at PCC are confident that this sort of mutual understanding and appreciation among our young people can promote world peace as well as build a sounder foundation for leadership in the United States in world affairs.

The Art Department is a friendly and helpful place in which to work and study, and there are some courses open to all students in which art talent is not required for success. Whether a student plans to major in art in college or a professional art school, or terminate his vocational art preparation at Pasadena City College, there are advanced classes at the university and professional school level.

The three art clubs: the Art Council, the Art Service Organization, and Zeta Gamma Phi provide opportunity for the development of real friendship and the realization of the high ideals of citizenship.

EUTERPEAN SINGERS

The Euterpean Singers have three goals: good sportsmanship, spirit of brotherhood, and quality of musical workmanship. The group has a common interest in the love of singing and the desire to bring music to others. Many public appearances are made at the college assemblies, Christmas and spring performances, and in other local schools and surrounding communities.

Dick Allwyn, Bob Autrey, Bill Bahrt, Gabriel Bontempo, Manager I, Vice-president II; Dan Camarella, President II; Walter Chamberlin, John Clark, Lee Cozad, Weston Dudley, Richard Dyrhsen, Ron Gister, Secretary-treasurer I; Robert Iler, Eddie Krieger, President I; Bill Marbury, George Martin, Gary Murphy, Secretary-treasurer II; Dick Owens, Charles Perlee, Vice-president I; Howard Peterson, Forest Phillips, Guy Russo, Rene Saurenman, Richard Taylor, Carrie Sharp, Director.

STRING ENSEMBLE

The String Ensemble includes talented student performers on string instruments. This group has made numerous public performances both on and off the campus and has demonstrated its interest and ability with the literature, both classical and modern, which has been composed for this medium. The cello trio from within the group won a first division rating in both the district and regional festivals of the California School Band and Orchestra Association. Members of the group have also participated in the All-Southern California High School Symphony Orchestra and the All-Southern California Junior College Orchestra.

CELLO TRIO

BAND

The Pasadena City College Band, under the direction of Lee Chrisman, made an outstanding contribution to each of the varsity football games by presenting half-time shows of high caliber, both in precision marching and musical content. The band was again chosen to be the Official Tournament of Roses Band and participated in the numerous Tournament activities during the Holiday Season. In the spring semester, the band's activities consisted of a busy concert schedule in near-by junior and senior high schools and a public concert in Pasadena. The band also joined with the Muir Band in providing the music for commencement.

The Prophecy in the Temple.

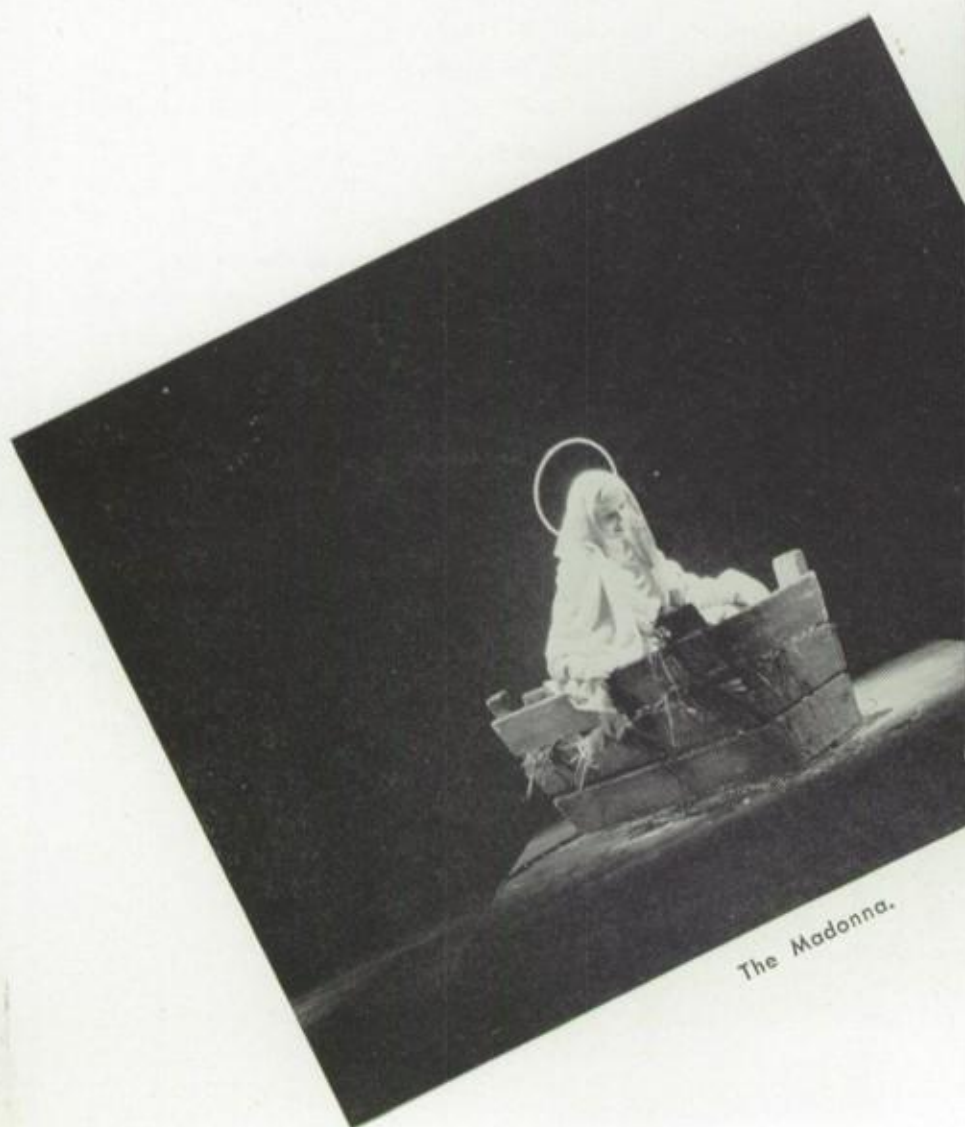

The holy aspect of Christmas has, traditionally, found expression on our campus through some form of stage presentation by the concerted efforts of the music, drama, and stage technology students. After some years of various Christmas offerings, the need was felt for a more significant medium of Christmas expression than anything then available; and it was in response to this need that Katharine Kester, one of the directors of Drama, wrote, in 1933, the choral-play, "Gloria." Lula Parmley, chairman of the Music Department, selected and arranged the music. Scott McLean, the direction of Ruby Purviance, instructor.

of the Pasadena Community Playhouse, designed the sets, and supervised their construction. The Art Department planned the costumes, which were made by the sewing classes, under

The first "Gloria" was cast; rehearsals progressed; scenery and costumes were made; all phases of the production were in the final stages - when - our auditorium was condemned. Damaged by the great earthquake, it failed to meet the requirements of the new building code.

But cast and directors secured the Pasadena Civic Auditorium, although the scenery, constructed for the campus stage, was built on too small a scale. Other technical plans had to be changed. Furthermore, only one day of rehearsal in the Civic Auditorium was permitted.

Under these precarious conditions, "Gloria" had its premiere. The choral-play glowed with a spiritual beauty, as the music, the drama, and the pageantry created anew the story of the Nativity. The great audience, hushed, whispered at ending. "This is the true Christmas!"

The Three Kings	- - - - -	Walter Pollock, Stanley Meacham, Stanley Taft

The large groups of Worshipers in the Temple, Shepherds, Celestial Choir, and Worshipers of Today were portrayed by the A Cappella Choir, Euterpean Singers, Nysaeen Singers, and combined Glee Clubs.

The next Christmas season found the campus in the midst of building demolition, as plans were made for the new earthquake-proof structures. "Gloria" rehearsals were carried on out-of-doors and in the classrooms of the Music Building, as long as possible. Our friends of Calvary Baptist Church allowed the use of the Church building, when the weather was bad, and when full rehearsals demanded a large playing space and a piano.

For four consecutive years the presentations were given in the Civic Auditorium, to packed houses. Thereafter, each biennial brought a new "Gloria." On one alternate year, at Eastertime, its sequence choral-play, "Alleluia," was presented.

The completion of Sexson Auditorium made possible the renewal of great stage productions so that it has been possible to present "Gloria" every other year, at least.

Fred Latshaw, director of Stage Technology, (deceased 1949), developed the beauty of staging and lighting. Members of the Music Department who have contributed to the successive seasons of "Gloria" are: Lula C. Parmley, chairman of department (retired, 1950); Carrie M. Sharp, director of Euterpean Singers; Kathryn Barnard, director of Nysaeen Singers; Mr. Milton Mohs, Mabel Oakes, and Carolyn Weersing, present head of the department. Laura Elder, counselor, has assisted with the costuming.

In 1934 "Gloria" was published by the Samuel French Company, and it is now widely produced each year throughout the United States and Canada.

"Gloria" was resumed in 1951, with Katharine Kester continuing as one of the general directors, and Isobel Smith as general director of music and director of the A Cappella Choir. Robert S. Carroll, a former student of Fred Latshaw, acted as director of Stage Technology, together with Donovan Ballard. Miss Parmley returned as guest organist.

It is impossible to estimate how many thousands have viewed our "Gloria" and have felt the hush of reverence in the glowing portrayal of the Christmas spirit and in the tribute of silence that follows. It is impossible to judge how far-reaching has been its influence on those who have participated, as singers, actors, or technicians.

BULLDOG BAND

The Bulldog Band performs twice a year in Sexson Auditorium, giving Pasadena City College students an opportunity to enjoy fine music.

J. HERBERT HALL AWARDS: Kenneth Box, Walter Hall, Gilbert Woodman, Melvin Hawkes, Darrel Wilcox.

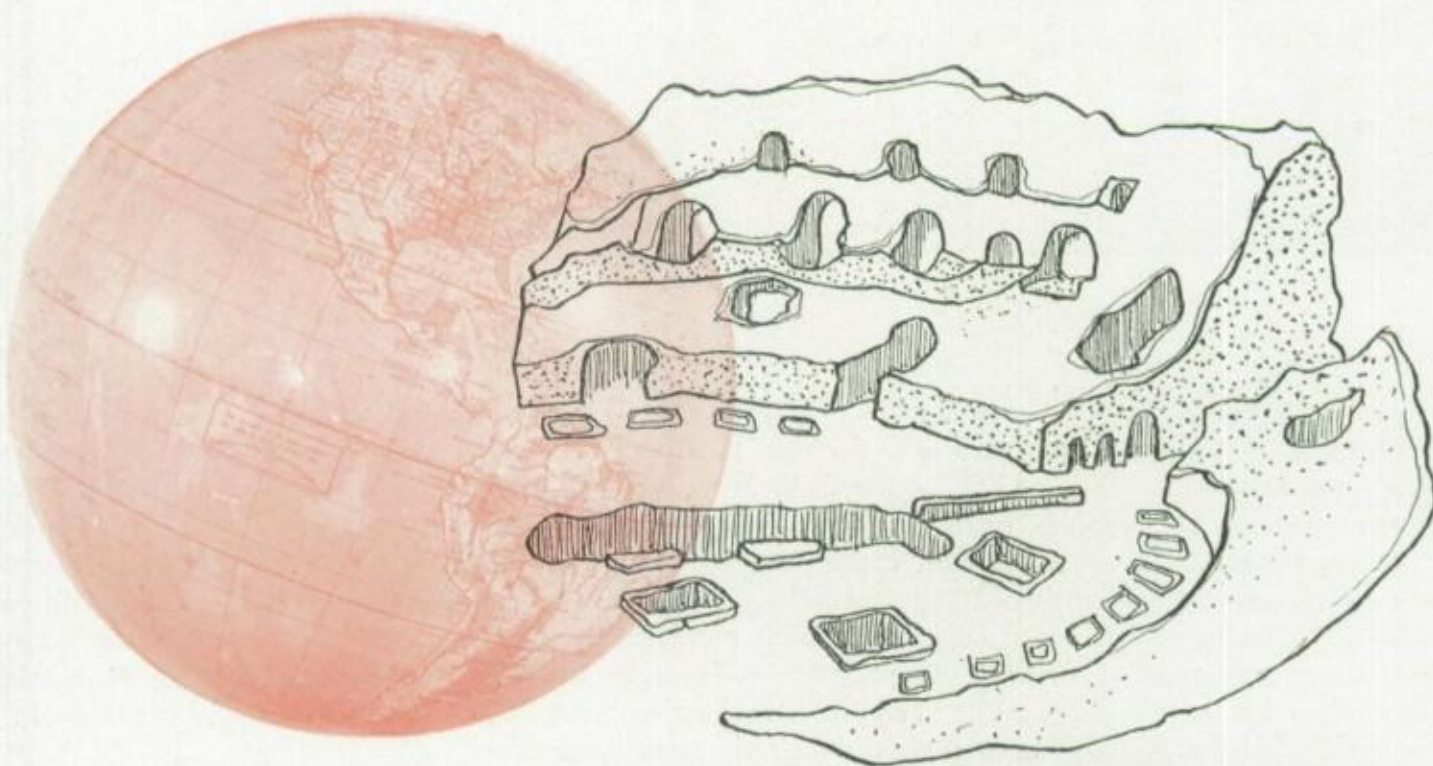

MAJORETTES: Suzanne Evans, Patricia Goodman, Judy Weed.
Additional Majorette: Jackie Anderson.

Pasadena City College students had a big year in assemblies during the 1951-1952 season climaxed by the annual June Crafty Hall show, sponsored by the Order of Mast and Dagger. The Order also put on another show at the end of the initial semester, based on the dreams about home of soldiers in Korea. Prior to the OMD show, members of Pasadena's championship football team were honored in the Awards assembly, and trophies, symbolic of National JC gridiron supremacy, were presented to Coach Bob Blackman and Principal William Langsdorf. One of the most outstanding assemblies put on by students was the Hi-Liter show, featuring top acts of every variety and the fine music of Doug Dick. The Key Club furthered its traditional twice-yearly assemblies with an alumni talent show in the first semester, and a color movie with narration by Jim Brown and Bill Peters in the second. Theta Rho Pi presented a hilarious production of a mock radio program, authored by Dick Carr. The Bulldog Band gave two colorful performances, winning acclaim for the delightful music. Perhaps one of the most interesting assemblies came at the time of the Spring Elections, when the various competing candidates explained their platforms for election.

SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL

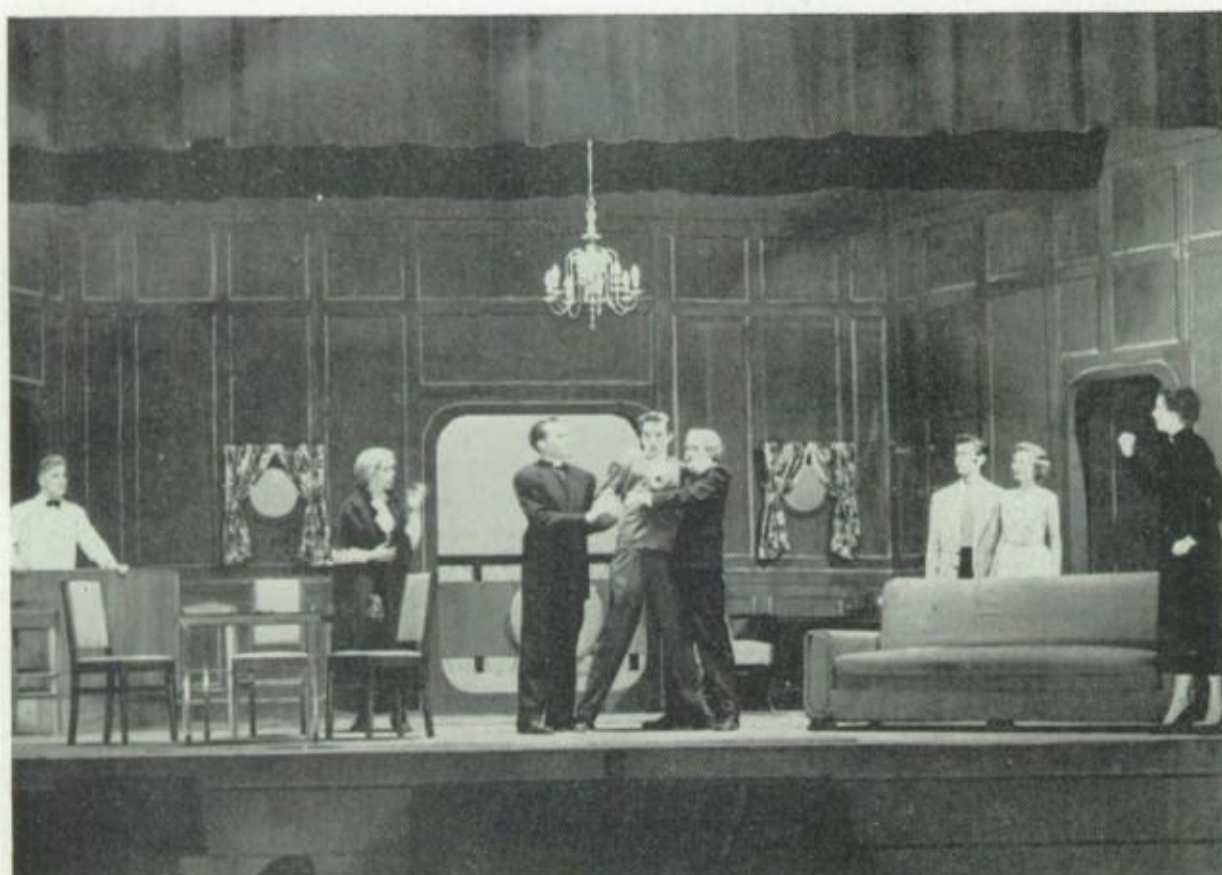

The greatest challenge to students of drama is the interpretation of plays of Shakespeare. In the presentation of individual scenes, the aspiring young actors vie with each other in two intramural contests: the Ruth Doolittle Memorial, open to 11th and 12th grades; and the Frederick Arthur Smith Memorial, open to 13th and 14th grades. Six finalists selected from each group compete again on the evening of the Shakespeare Festival. Awards of the 1952 contests were presented to Shirley Smith, who read from "King John"; Shirley Wickstrom, "Henry VI," part III; Vincent Campagna, "Hamlet"; Maurice Perreiah, "As You Like It." Katharine Kester is director of the contests, with Clara H. Williams as chairman of social arrangements.

OUTWARD BOUND

Sutton Vanes "Outward Bound," a play of a mystery ship, was the choice of Players' Guild for the spring dramatic season. A strange group of passengers, sailing for the Unknown, discover their destination to be Heaven or Hell; "It's the same place you see," as the wise old steward puts it. Under the direction of Katharine Kester, adviser of Players' Guild, with staging designed and executed by students of David Metzgar, Donovan Ballard, and Robert Carroll, the cast included Peter Adgie, Rosemarie Hurlimann, Roy Loza, Vincent Campagna, Jeanne Moore, Maurice Perreiah, Lois Johnson, Charles Baldrige, and Donald Walker.

ELIZABETH E. KEPPIE MEMORIAL CONTEST

Poetry is best enjoyed when read aloud. The Pasadena Verse-Speaking Choir sponsors annually the Elizabeth E. Keppie Memorial Contest, in which students compete for honors in the interpretation of poetry of their own choice. Awards of the 1952 contest were presented to James Cockrell and Carol Driscoll. Students were under the direction of Katharine Kester, drama instructor.

Jim Cockrell, First place; Mrs. Marjorie Ward, Chairman of the Judges; Carol Driscoll, Second place.

Chuck Baldridge, Millie DiNoto, Sandra Campbell, Carol Childs, Lois Johnson.

THE FAR OFF HILLS

"The Far Off Hills," by Lennox Robinson, was the Little Theater offering for the fall semester. Originally played by Barry Fitzgerald and the Abbey Theater group, it provided an Irish flavor to the season, and a bite of a philosophical approach to the old saying that "The far off hills are greenest." The cast included: Sandra Campbell, Charles Baldridge, Carole Childs, Lois Johnson, Starling Jordan, William Bowen, William Belk, Carmella DiNoto, Roy Loza, Gloria Silian. Student Director was Jeanne Moore. Donald Liercke, drama instructor, directed the production.

Nira Monsour, Ron Troxell, Cynthia Jensen.

YEARS AGO

Delta Psi Omega's fall offering was "Years Ago" by Ruth Gordon. This pseudo-biographical account of a girl's aspirations for a theatrical career was well received and enthusiastically produced, since it served to dramatize the ambition most of us have had at one time or another, to "go on the stage." Included in the cast were: Nira Monsour, Cynthia Jensen, Ron Troxell, Lois Johnson, Rose Marie Hurlimann, Dick Owens, Vincent Campagna, Pat Worrell, Jeanne Moore. Charles Baldrige was the student director and Donald Liercke was the adviser.

ONE ACT PLAYS

"From Five to Five-thirty" was the entry of the lower division in the Pasadena Playhouse One Act Play Tournament and received a rating of "Excellent." The play was also used as an experimental production in the new stage technology shop for the Transportation Fair. Donald Liercke was faculty director.

"Now Is the Time" was originally booked as a student assembly and enjoyed by a large number of students and was later used as an alternate bill with "Five to Five-thirty" for the Transportation Fair.

This year "Overtones" was presented by the Drama Fundamentals class and "Dark Brown" and "That's Hollywood" by the Play Production class. These productions are given for the educational value of students who participate and are open to spectators interested in drama production.

"OVERTONES"

"Overtones," by Alice Gerstenberg, is representative of the many short plays produced each semester by the drama classes. This interesting mask play was a project of drama fundamentals, with Katharine Kester as instructor.

NIRA MONSOUR

Nira Monsour was granted the annual award for the most outstanding contribution to PCC dramatics from a graduating senior. Partial qualifications include courses in drama fundamentals, play production, drama laboratory, stage technology; role in "SNAFU," "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," "Let's Live a Little," "Little Women," "Clarence," "Peg O' My Heart," "Years Ago," and "A Sentimental Journey." She has also done numerous radio programs, participated in back stage and crew work on a number of shows, was a member of Players' Guild and Delta Psi Omega for three semesters, was one of the original organizers of the Actor's Digest on campus.

Nira also won the Frederick Arthur Smith Contest in Shakespeare with a scene from "As You Like It" in 1951 and has been a contest judge at Occidental College for two successive years as a student representative from PCC.

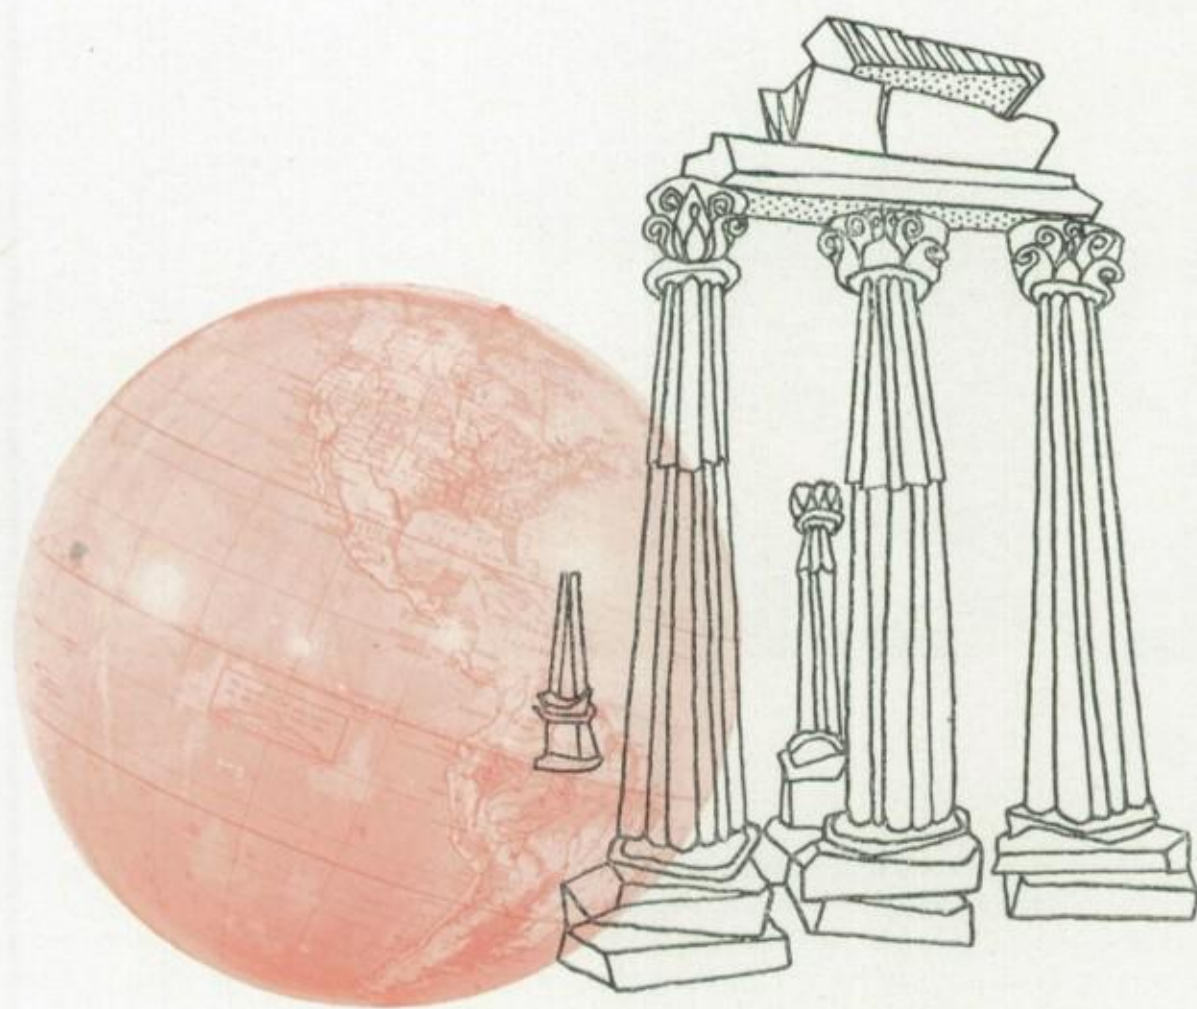

STAGE TECHNOLOGY

Men in stage technology plan, design, lay out, construct, and operate all stage productions and other related events on the campus. They make all blank recording discs for recording work in other departments and then go out to "run the job." They are trained to know about types of microphones and amplifiers. On the stage the technicians must know the show in order to determine what type of light to place. Men in stage technology know how to work as a team, visualize what is going to happen, and solve problems as they arise.

The men are always in demand as technicians for many of the outside events throughout Southern California. Stage technology instructors are Donovan Ballard and Robert Carroll.

FORENSIC CONTESTS

Students of forensics competed in the several local contests held in 1951-52.

Most traditional, and also the oldest of its kind on the Pacific Coast is the Davis-Hall Public Speaking contest, in which participants are required to speak from four to seven minutes on one of several timely topics. Virginia Kersting is in charge of this contest. Dee Dee Olsen won first place in upper division group, and Jim Galbraith first in lower division groups.

The California Native Daughters' Contest, for junior college students only, holds first a local contest, then a district one followed by a regional meet. Mike Schon was winner in all three divisions in 1951. Paul Smith directed the participants.

Comparable to the California Native Daughters' contest is the Native Sons' competition open to high school students. Jim Galbraith, under the instruction of Irvin Lewis, was winner this year.

Another important forensics event is the Phil Robinson Speech contest, established by Mr. P. B. Robinson as a memorial to his son, a former PCC student. Under the direction of Virginia Kersting, Roger MacGregor was first place lower division winner and Beverly Cooper, first place upper division winner. Roger was also first place winner in the local Lion's Club contest. He was under the direction of Irvin Lewis.

CHRONICLE EDITORS

Run like a city newspaper, the editorial offices of the Chronicle find their busiest hours on Wednesday afternoons, near the "zero hour" for news copy. The objective of this City College weekly is to relate accurately and impartially the varied aspects of student life.

The staff has endeavored in its weekly editions to include news from all departments of the college. Thirty-one issues were published with a special edition for Turkey Tussle, Christmas, Transportation Fair, OMD Carnival, and June graduation. The Turkey Tussle edition received first place for page one make-up at the University of Southern California Competition. Miss Mildred Poorman was staff adviser throughout the year.

PRESS BUREAU

Covering Pasadena City College activities in every phase, the Press Bureau blankets the Crown City and the valley area with news releases estimated at over 10,000 inches a year. In addition to straight news and features, a column entitled "City College Capers" appears weekly in the Pasadena Star-News viewing current events on the campus. Pat McKinney, Commissioner of Public Relations, prepared the column during the first semester and turned the job over to George Laine for the second semester. Adviser of the Press Bureau is William Buttler.

The Athletics Press Bureau members are journalism students particularly interested in sports writing. They assume responsibility for coverage of all college sports events and for off-campus news outlets in Pasadena as well as in surrounding communities. The group also edits football, basketball, and baseball brochures, a twenty-four page souvenir football program, "The Huddle," and other sports publications. The faculty adviser is Mr. Irvin Lewis.

PICTORIAL JOURNALISM

Pictorial Journalism, with a well-equipped laboratory for developing and processing photographs for use in newspapers and school organs, affords the student an opportunity to learn at first hand about the operation of a modern photo lab. Under the direction of Linden Leavitt, campus photogs serve the Press Bureau, the Chronicle, and the Campus as well as many other campus activities. Another facet of the class is cinematography, providing an exciting field of exploration for those interested in the production of sound motion pictures. The experience gained aids students in the filming of educational procedures and social events of interest to the school.

PIPES OF PAN

"Pipes of Pan" is the anthology of Pasadena City College writing which is published annually by the English Department and the English Council, in conjunction with Fred Hammond of the Printshop. Representing the best in prose, poetry, and essays from thirty-four student writers, the 1952 "Pipes" was edited by Everett Harrison and Suzanne Hendrick, with the aid of Jessie Paxton, adviser, and Dr. Dorothy Dixon, chairman of the English Department.

SCAN

The Student Christian Association publishes its own bi-monthly newspaper, SCAN, which keeps the membership of the Association informed of its doings. An editorial board plans each issue and is responsible for policy; a business board is charged with advertising policy and income. SCAN this year had a circulation of around 3000, with its support dependent entirely upon advertising. Adviser for the group is Mr. Ernest Becker.

JUNIOR JOTTINGS

Junior class journalists threw their all into the 1952 edition of "Junior Jottings." Capably staffed, the pint-sized publication drew many chuckles and grins for the "April Fool" motif. Assisting Editor-in-Chief George Laine were Pat Tully, Roma Michaelson, Marian Stuver and Rick Neumann. The "Jottings" staff was aided in the preparation of material by Jeanne Nickell, junior class president.

Always bustling with activity is the printshop. At one end of the hall-long, unpartitioned section of rooms is the printing production shop, where all Student-Body materials are printed. At the other, the printing classes meet.

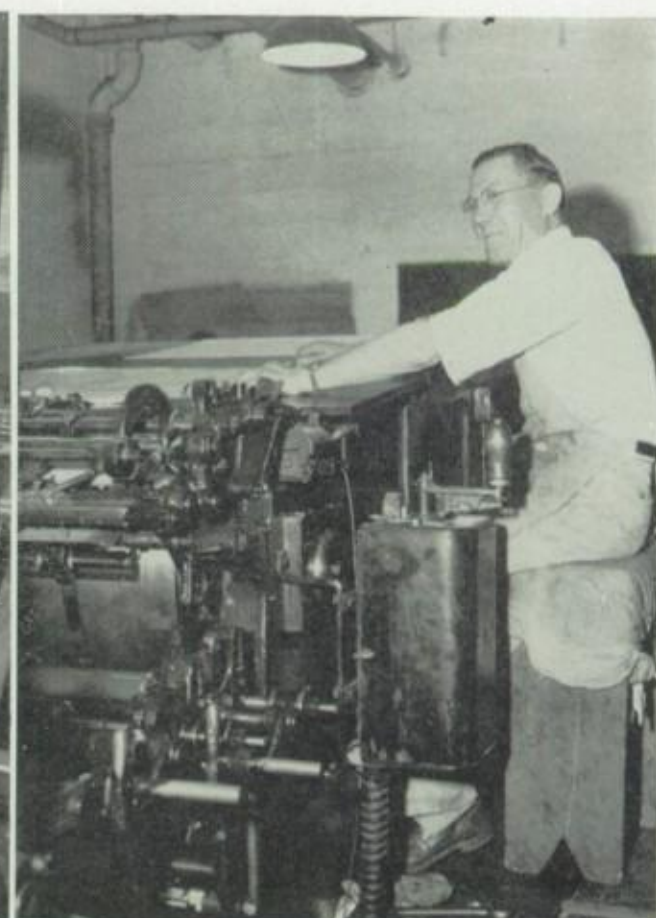

The production unit, the Pasadena City College Press, handles such publications as the Chonicle, Campus, Huddle, and numerous schedules, programs, posters, and notices about Student-Body affairs. A division of the Associated Student Business Department, it is managed by Bob van der Veen. Bill Lindquist, intertype operator, and Ray Axxe, pressman, are Van's permanent assistants, and an additional pressman, Robins Johantgen, comes in to handle the printing of the Campus.

CAMPUS EDITORS

It's very quiet now in Journalism Row: the presses have rolled to a halt, and the furious bustle of activity in 31C has disappeared in the light of publication of the 1952 Campus.

Saying thanks to all the wonderful guys and gals who worked so diligently in making the book is well-nigh inadequate, but it's all I can do here. So thanks, to Ruth Brown, who edited the graduation section and was always around when she was needed; to Jim Bald, who worked industriously to prepare and complete the organizations section; to Mia Carpenter, for her impressively imaginative art work; to Bill Blankenship's persistent tracking down of sports material; to Glenn Carothers for taking over the tight reins of our finances; to Mike Mackes, who aided Bill so much on sports; to Wayne Milek, and his well-thought out club copy; to Marijane Stone, for working on Womens' Sports; and to Lee Alden, Joan Augustine, Kay Cushman, Maren Dale, Norma Doell, Laura Goroni, Donna Hamilton, Jo Ann Kos, Peter Lamerdin, Nancy Norberg, and Gwena Palmer for all the typing, errands, phoning, notices, charting, and other seemingly insignificant but important odd jobs they performed. Without them, and the assistance of our adviser, Miss Gladys Snyder, the 1952 Campus would still be just a dream. Thanks again, everyone, and good luck to you always.

Sincerely,
Duane Allen

BULLDOG VARSITY

National Junior College Champions

Western State Conference Champions

Pasadena City College's varsity football team climaxed the greatest season in its history by winning its first Western State Conference championship, and then the Junior Rose Bowl game. The squad came through the season with no losses or ties, winning all eleven regular-season games in the toughest junior college conference in the country, and then defeating Tyler, Texas, for the national junior college championship. Bob Blackman, in his third year here as head football coach, did a great job of molding the squad into a championship team, along with Backfield Coach Mickey Anderson, End Coach Bob Bastian, and Line Coach Tony Linehan. Halfback Al Napoleon and Center Art Sorce made the first-string All-American Junior College team, while Tackle Dub Doshier was named to the second squad. Seven Bulldogs were named to the first-string All-Western State Conference team: Halfback Addison Hawthorne, Al Napoleon, Art Sorce, Dub Doshier, Guards George Textor and Mickey Bevilacqua, and End Ben Almadova. Quarterback George Hammond made the second-string squad. By unanimous choice Fullback Bill Bennett was chosen Player-of-the-Year by his teammates. Bennett is considered by many experts to be the best blocking back in junior college ranks. A few of the many records established by the Bulldogs were: a team rushing average of 5.0 yards; opponents limited to 1.9 yards average per play; 39 enemy passes intercepted; a 43.5 yard kickoff average; and 40 PAT's in 54 attempts by George Textor. Bob Blackman's record at PCC now stands at 26 wins, 4 losses, and 3 ties.

PASADENA 26 SANTA ANA 6

Pasadena City College won over visiting Santa Ana College at the Rose Bowl in a 26-6 opening game that previewed the might of the Bulldog eleven. The first TD of the night was by Pasadena's All-WSC Halfback, Addison Hawthorne, who charged over from the eleven late in the second quarter, climaxing a Red-and-White march of 77 yards in seven plays. Hawthorne scored two more touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters. Both times he slid through tackle into the Don's secondary and then turned on the steam to outraced the defenders. Santa Ana's sole tally was scored on a long end zone pass. The opening score was made by Quarterback George Hammond who sneaked over from the six. Tackle Dub Doshier and End John Stellern were outstanding on defense.

PASADENA 35 CHAFFEY 6

The Pasadena eleven walloped visiting Chaffey College 35-6 in the Rose Bowl for their second win of the season. The Bulldogs scored in the first quarter on a freak play as Quarterback George Hammond's aerial was fumbled by End Ben Almadova just short of the goal line. The ball rolled into the end zone and End Dave Brooks fell on it for the first score. Hammond went over soon afterwards from the four as a result of Addison Hawthorne's 55-yard punt runback. Hawthorne turned in another Pasadena touchdown, returning a punt 65 yards to pay dirt. George Textor's conversion failed, but his next one, following Napoleon's TD from the three, was good. Bright lights in the Bulldogs' shifting seven-man line were Pete Bello and All-American center Art Sorce.

PASADENA 39 GLENDALE 0

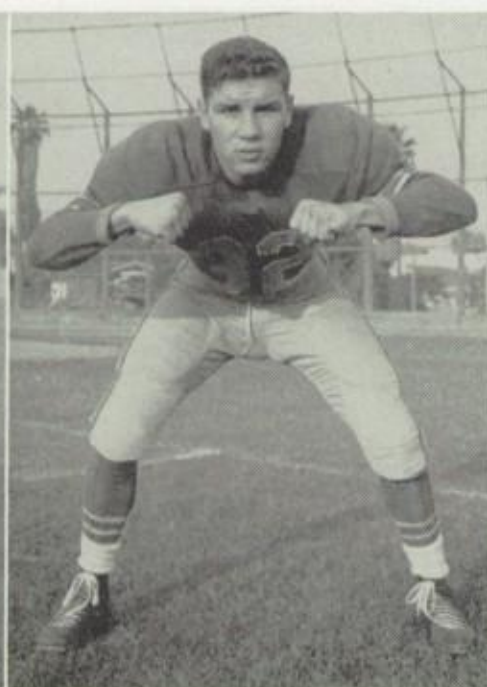

Pasadena City College opened its Western State Conference season with an overwhelming 39-0 win over Glendale at the Rose Bowl. Bulldog backs rambled a net 309 yards, while Glendale totaled a mere 24 yards for the night. Quarterback George Hammond scored first early in the second quarter as he slipped over from the three. George Textor added the extra point. The third quarter saw Halfbacks Al Napoleon and Hank Makekau score from seven and eight yards out. Pasadena went 81 yards in eight plays in the fourth quarter, Halfback Everett Adams scoring on a dazzling 37-yard sprint. Middle Guard Art Sorce, Tackles Dub Doshier and Len McCabe, End John Stellern, and Linebackers Mickey Bevilacqua and Bill Bennett were the main cogs in the Pasadena defense.

PASADENA 21 LOS ANGELES 7

The Bulldogs dropped their fourth opponent as Los Angeles City College failed to stop the Pasadena offensive in a 21-7 loss. Pasadena opened the scoring when Quarterback George Hammond, capitalizing on a fumble recovered by Mickey Bevilacqua, sneaked over from the three. A few minutes later Bevilacqua figured in another score for the Red and White as he broke through to block an end zone punt. The ball rolled out of bounds for a safety. All-American Al Napoleon finished the night's scoring in the third quarter on a spectacular 33-yard sideline jaunt. The Bulldogs' defense, especially in the pass department, was almost letter-perfect, as Al Dattola led an alert secondary that stole a total of nine Cub aerals. Pasadena ripped the LA defense for 260 yards as compared to Los Angeles' 95 yards.

PASADENA 33 FULLERTON 0

A pair of handy Hawaiian halfbacks named Hank Makekau and Al Napoleon led the Pasadena eleven to their fifth consecutive victory, racking up Fullerton 33-0. Combining a rock-wall defense with a tremendous offense, the Bulldogs totaled 265 yards on the ground. The game was decided in the first quarter when Pasadena tallied three quick scores. Pasadena drove 51 yards in nine plays to let Halfback Al Napoleon score on a 12-yard run. Fullback Val Freitas crashed through the middle of Fullerton's line midway in the second canto on a seven-yard scoring sprint. The game closed its book in the third quarter with Napoleon's third TD on a 39-yard end run. Once again the PCC defense shone while George Textor, Dub Doshier, and John Stellern were especially outstanding.

PASADENA 13 LONG BEACH 7

The Bulldogs played one of their best games of the year as they upset the favored Long Beach Vikings, 13-7, in a hard-fought game. Pasadena drew first blood when George Hammond scored on a two-yard sneak to climax a 28-yard drive in the first quarter. George Textor converted and Pasadena led, 7-0. Long Beach tied the game in the second quarter; but from that point on, the game was a defensive battle with neither team able to score until the fourth quarter when the Bulldogs moved 52 yards in eight plays to tally on Ev Adams' five-yard run. Textor missed the attempted conversion and the game ended, 13-7. Much of the credit for this important victory belongs to the Bulldogs' fine defensive team which held the highly-touted Viking backs, Van Zant and Brogleman, in check throughout the game.

PASADENA 21 COMPTON 6

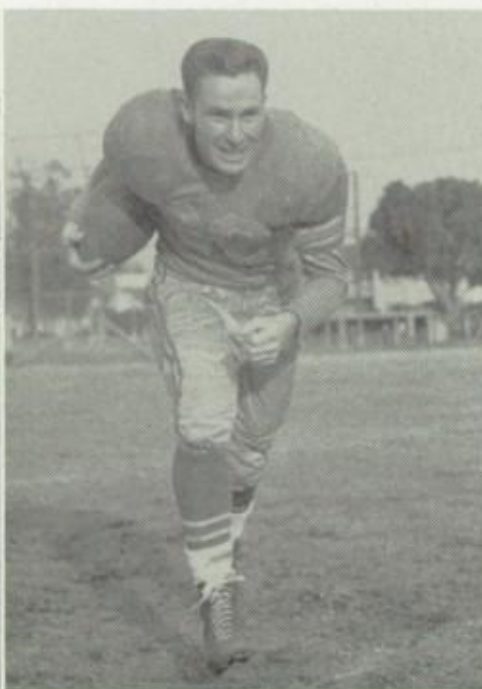

Pasadena met Compton on a coolish November evening, but it might just as well have been July Fourth, from the ensuing fireworks, as the Bulldogs exploded in the first quarter to win, 21-6. The first score came when Quarterback George Hammond flipped to Ben Almadova who raced into the end zone for the score. Textor booted the first of three perfect conversions and the Bulldogs led, 7-0. The crowd had hardly settled back in their seats when Halfback Al Napoleon raced over his own left tackle for 91 yards and a sensational touchdown. Pasadena ended its scoring spree, when with only seconds remaining in the first quarter, Hammond threw a 23-yard pass to Bob Leedham on a tackle-eligible play. The strong Pasadena defense halted the Tartar advances three times within the 15-yard line.

PASADENA 40 VENTURA 6

Ventura came to Pasadena hoping for an upset victory and went home several hours later wondering what had hit them. The Bulldogs walloped the Pirates, 40-6, thereby clinching the Western State Conference title for Pasadena, which looked to be in a real battle after holding only a seven-point advantage at halftime. The lone score came on Don Thompson's 37-yard return of an intercepted pass. Al Dattola scored twice in the third quarter, however, and when Ventura kicked off, Dattola and Makekau combined to return the kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown, Makekau going the last 85 behind beautiful blocking. Pete Bello, John Stellern, and Dave Brooks played fine defensive ball, harassing the Ventura passers all night, as Pasadena rolled up 325 yards rushing and passing to Ventura's 83.

PASADENA 41 MEXICO CITY 6

The Bulldogs journeyed south of the border to the land of the tamale and siesta and found the rarefied atmosphere of Mexico City much to their liking as they crushed the Aztecas of Mexico City College, 41-6. After being held scoreless in the first period, Pasadena unleashed a devastating attack, which netted 422 yards, 231 of them being on the ground. Addison Hawthorne scored three touchdowns on runs of 48 and four yards and a pass from Hammond good for 32 yards, and passed for a fourth to End Gene Deyling. Fullback Bill Bennett and End Ben Almadova combined to score on an 82-yard pass play with Almadova running the final 42 yards untouched. Ev Adams, the little Bulldog halfback, scored Pasadena's sixth touchdown on a 21-yard Statue of Liberty play.

PASADENA 34 EAST LOS ANGELES 9

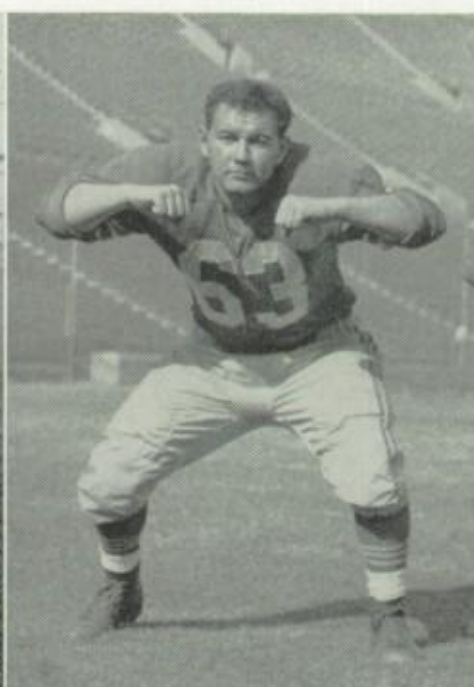

Numerous pass interceptions and a good running attack helped the Bulldogs to beat East Los Angeles, 34-9, and finish their regular season's play unbeaten and untied. After a slow start, the Bulldogs scored on runs by Ev Adams and Hank Makekau, and a 32-yard pass interception return by Al Dattola. In the second half, Makekau scored two more TD's on a 12-yard run and a 29-yard pass from Hammond to give the Bulldogs a 34-7 edge. George Textor made four out of five conversions. In this game Pasadena intercepted seven passes out of a total of 9 intercepted during the evening by both teams—All-American Art Sorce stealing two from deep in his center spot—to bring the season's total to 36, one of the outstanding defensive records in the entire nation.

PASADENA 49

The Bulldogs won the mythical grid championship of Pasadena as they rolled over John Muir College, 49-20, in the fifth annual Turkey Tussle. Pasadena, sticking almost exclusively to a running game, scored in every quarter. Al Napoleon opened the scoring with a four-yard run, and "Automatic" George Textor gave the Bulldogs a short-lived 7-0 lead when he booted the first of seven conversions. Muir's Les Allen tied the score moments later with a 1-foot plunge and a conversion, but Pasadena went in front for good when George Hammond sneaked over. Two more touchdowns, with Bill Bennett's great blocks paving the way, gave the Bulldogs a 28-13 halftime lead. Al Dattola scored on a 5-yard dash, Napoleon raced 19 yards for his third touchdown, and Ev Adams added the final Bulldog tally on a 2-yard run for Pasadena's second half scoring. Pete Wallace added Muir's final 7 points on a fourth-quarter touchdown and conversion. Although he didn't score, Pasadena's outstanding offensive performer was Addison Hawthorne, who ran over, past, and through the Mustangs for 149 yards, with a sparkling 8.8 yard average, one of his greatest performances in two seasons of football for the Red and White.

JUNIOR ROSE BOWL

The greatest grid team in Pasadena history climaxed its 1951 National Junior College championship season when it came off the floor twice to overtake Tyler JC and win the sixth annual Junior Rose Bowl classic in thrilling fashion, 28-26.

Many of the 41,971 fans had not yet reached their seats when Tyler's Billy Andrews took the opening kickoff and raced it back 94 yards to a touchdown. Billy Davis missed the attempted conversion and the Apaches led, 6-0. Seconds later, Al Napoleon put the crowd on its feet again when he raced 63 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. George Textor converted and the Bulldogs led, 7-6, with only 50 seconds of playing time gone.

Led by Halfback Andrews and Fullback Tomie Ward, the Apaches marched 67 yards to score on a two-yard smash by Ward. Davis converted to put the Texas team back in the lead, 13-7. Tyler scored again, this time after a recovered Bulldog fumble, with Ward going over from one foot out. Apaches 19, Bulldogs 7.

Pasadena got right back in the ball game as Napoleon took a wide pitchout and raced 19 yards behind beautiful blocking to a touchdown. Textor converted to narrow Tyler's halftime advantage to 19-14.

The Bulldogs went in front to stay, when, with only one minute of the second half played, Addison Hawthorne raced 46 yards to paydirt and Textor converted. Pasadena was sizzling now, and with Napoleon and Hawthorne running wild, went 76 yards in five plays, Hawthorne racing the last 33 for the score. Textor again converted, and the Bulldogs held a commanding 28-19 lead.

The Apaches scored once more on a short pass to narrow the margin to two points. A field goal attempt by Tyler from the Pasadena 45 in the game's waning seconds failed when End John Stellern blocked the ball.

Both Hawthorne and Napoleon broke the Junior Rose Bowl game record for rushing, with Napoleon gaining 200 yards to set a new record. George Textor's accurate right toe gave the Bulldogs the margin of victory, while the defensive team, outweighed man for man by the huge Apache line, held feared Tomie Ward in check. All the way around, it was a tremendously exciting game.

BULLPUP "A"

Pasadena City College's "Cinderella" Bullpup "A" eleven came within one game of winning the Pacific League championship which they captured last year. Although the Pups did not show the power that was to come later in the season, their non-league games served as warm-ups for their bid at the league championship. They dropped their first three games to Rosemead, 26-14, Ventura, 13-0, and Muir, 12-6. Then they pulled their first victory out of a foggy field against El Monte in an evenly matched contest that saw Full-back Bob Samosa make the only TD of the game. The next game of the season, with highly favored Mark Keppel, was the first real show of power the Bullpups demonstrated as they played an inspired game to win a 20-15 victory. Prepped for their next contest, they traveled to Alhambra in their second league game and brought home another victory, a 28-7 win. They followed this up with a 13-7 win a week later against Whittier on Horrell Field. But in the last and deciding game of the season, visiting Monrovia took advantage of the Pup's mistakes and rolled up a 41-7 tally against Pasadena, to cinch the Pacific League crown. Tom Mallory, head coach of the "A's", did a great job, with the assistance of John Thurman, Ron Robinson, and Tom Hamilton, in molding the Pups into a squad that worked together for the team. The Bullpups had continually improved throughout the season as they capitalized on the passing arm of Quarterback Don Brown, the receiving of Ends Don Shoemaker and John Short, and the running of Bob Perry, Bob Samosa, and Mickey Downs. Good line play was led by Charles Cross, Chuck Gelfand, Woody West, and Hilton Gray. Captain of the squad was Don Brown.

NEWT STARK
 Coach

The Bullpup "B" team, ably coached by Otto Anderson and Newt Stark, enjoyed a fine season as it chalked up a 1951 record of six wins, one loss, and one tie, to finish second in the Pacific League. The Bees opened their season in great style as they successively defeated Rosemead, 18-6, Compton, 20-0, Muir, 13-6, El Monte, 13-0, and Mark Keppel, 13-6. The Bees were then tied 7-7 by Alhambra in a hard fought game. Their only defeat of the season came at the hands of Whittier's powerful league champions in an 18-7 game marked by its long scoring plays. In their final game of 1951, the Bees were successful in a 20-0 shutout of Monrovia. The play of the team was sparked by a great defense which allowed an average of fewer than six points a game to be scored against them, and a good offense led by the rushing of Halfbacks Roger Moore and Frank Responts. On defense it was the play of Jerry Weber in the backfield and Eddie Flores, Albert Guerrero, and Kenny Wilson in the line, which was outstanding. Weber and Flores were named co-captains of the team for the season.

BULLDOG VARSITY

LEONARD YANDLE
Coach

The Bulldog varsity basketball team enjoyed a successful 1951-52 season climaxed by a tie for second place in Western State Conference play. Coach Leonard Yandle, in his third year at City College, fielded a team which compensated for its lack of height with a fast, driving offense that averaged 63 points a game and won 24 of the 46 contests, including four wins in eight conference tilts.

The Bulldogs participated in three tournaments, finishing fourth in the Glendale tournament and placing sixth in the State tourney at Modesto. After winning their opening conference game against Glendale, 57-52, the Bulldogs suffered three consecutive defeats at the hands of Compton, 48-72, Los Angeles, 83-84, and Ventura, 61-79. Fortune changed for the Canines as they won three straight, beating Glendale, 61-56, Compton, 73-72, and Los Angeles, 69-62. In their final conference clash they lost to undefeated league champions Ventura, 71-81. The Bulldogs also lost twice to cross-town rival, John Muir.

Sparking the Bulldog offense were Forward Dale Arambel, who scored 471 points for an 11.8 average, and Don Murray, who scored 458 points for a 10.4 average. Jerry Tarkanian, Bob Mallis, and Bill Contreras were other outstanding players.

Players who lettered included: Ben Almadova, Don Murray, James Olsen, Ray Petterson, Larry Ross, Jerry Tarkanian, and Bill Wells. Bob Olivas, Melvin Anderson, and Dan Marovich were team managers.

JOHN THURMAN
Coach

For the fifth consecutive year, the varsity baseball team wound up in first place in the Western State Conference. The season closed with Pasadena and their cross-town rival, John Muir, in a tie with 7-3 conference records to share the championship honors. Coach John Thurman's baseball teams have won the crown every year since the strong Western State Conference was formed.

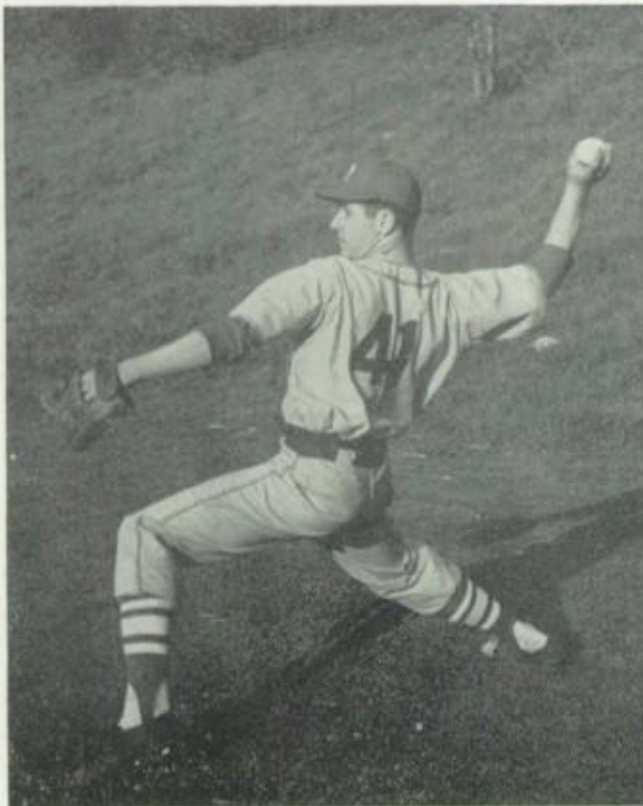

After a poor start, the Bulldogs picked up steam and won seven of ten conference contests. In non-conference play the Bulldogs did not fare so well, as they won five and tied three in fifteen games.

The team had some good pitching from Aaron Ross, Larry Joyner, James Carr and Pete Holmstrom, but erratic support cost the Bulldogs some games. Harold Krauss and Ben Almadova handled the first base chores for the Bulldogs; Don Murray and Vince Smalldino played second, Don Seavey, shortstop, and Joe Conte, third base. The outer pastures were guarded by Bob Seymour, Dick Adams, Don Thompson, Dick Bartholomew, and Johnny Kai. Mickey Bevilacqua, a tower of strength behind the plate was backed up by Les Hogan to give the Bulldogs a strong catching corps.

Pasadena promotes another run in the sixth.

The 1952 baseball season saw the Bullpups under the new coaching of Ron Robinson. The season started with two losses to Glendale Hoover and Muir, but then the caliber of the Pups' batting and fielding improved until they had taken a 5 to 0 victory over Antelope Valley and returned to take another 24 to 0 win over the same team. Pacific League victories taken by the Pups included a 10 to 2 win over El Monte and a 2 to 0 tilt with Mark Keppel which ended in a two-hitter for Pasadena.

Despite the elimination of a boxing team, enthusiasm waxed high in the Golden Gloves contests held at the PCC gym. The final night saw seven action-packed bouts in the different divisions. Ernie Ruiz defeated student body president Dick Owens in the 120 pound bout. A fine exhibition of boxing was demonstrated in the next division as Don Leis out-boxed game Roy Roberson to capture the 130 pound crown. At the 165 pound class rugged Henry Wilfong, with his experience coupled with a vicious aggressiveness, out-fought courageous Joe Corrales. The Heavyweight battle brought victory to towering

The sole TKO of the night was Dave Moody's win in the 175 pound class as the referee stopped the match in one minute, 25 seconds on the third round. Other champions included Calvin McGruder, Don Martinez, and Clement Araw, who took the three special PCC trophies. Araw was the "fightingest fighter" and Don Martinez was the second best. The closest match of the evening saw Tony Gutierrez and Don battle for the 135 pound crown with Gutierrez winning by one point.

BULLPUP

Coached again by Newt Stark, the varsity and Bullpup swimming teams each turned out a champion for the year. In the varsity division it was Ray Peterson, an amiable, blond diver who took the Western State Conference Championship on the highboard. In the Bullpups it was Dick Connors who swam his way to second place in the CIF Finals. The team as a whole did well, too, with the varsity's Peterson, Bill Kellog, and Hank Makekau turning in fine performances for the Red and White, and Connors sparking the Pups.

VARSITY

Led by several of the country's outstanding young gymnasts, Coach Dave McBride's Bulldog and Bullpup Gymnastics teams continued their rise toward national fame during the 1952 campaign.

The Bulldogs, led by Don Perry, Archie Durham, Bill Slater, and Phill Allin, defeated such teams as Occidental, UCLA, San Diego State, and East Los Angeles, and edged USC, 31 to 30½ to win the Junior AAU meet. Losses to USC and Los Angeles City College were the only defeats on the varsity's record.

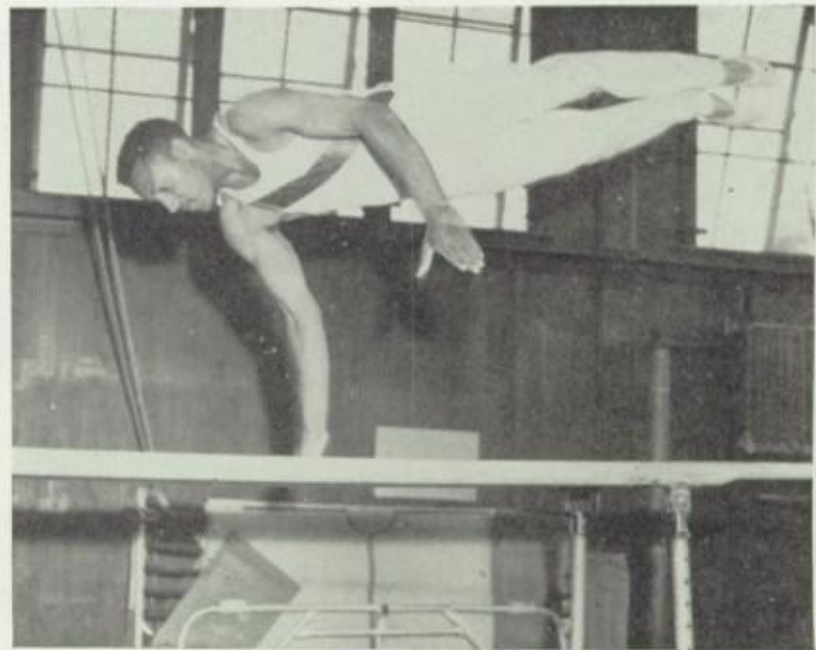

Four members of the team, together with Coach McBride, went east in April to participate in the National Gymnastics Championships and the Olympic Games trials. Durham's performance was particularly outstanding, as he surprised most veteran observers with his skill and form and upset the more experienced performers to win the Olympic Trials championship in the long horse event, and finished second in the side horse. Don Perry won the Olympic Trials in the rope climb and also won his fourth AAU championship in this event. Bill Slater won the Junior AAU championship on the horizontal bar and young Enod Moore won the Junior AAU titles on the parallel bars and the side horse, and took the all-around championship to bring further glory to Pasadena.

The Bullpups, led by the sensational Moore, swept through their schedule, which included meets with Antelope Valley, Eagle Rock, Wilson of Los Angeles, Long Beach Poly, and Santa Paula, undefeated to establish themselves as one of the best gym teams in Southern California.

On May 2, the fourth annual Pasadena-National Invitational Championships were held at the City College gym. Many of the country's top gymnasts, including twenty national champions and two Olympic team members participated. The entrants from Pasadena performed very well with individual honors going to Don Perry, who tied his own world's record in the rope climb, Enod Moore, who was fourth in the all-around, and Archie Durham, who was fifth in the all-around championship.

After a year's absence from the Campus, the Golf team returned under the leadership of Coach Leonard Yandle to place second in the Western State Conference. In the lower division, Cliff Dittmar entered the second annual Pacific League golf tournament, as Pasadena's sole entry, and overcame the best prep golfers in Southern California. Dittmar's low score of 83 topped that of every one of the 40 other entrants in the tournament. Pasadena as a team also dropped Ventura, Los Angeles, Compton, losing only to Glendale and Muir. The squad was led in conference play by Dick Cain, Larry Pierce, and Dick Fuller.

VARSITY

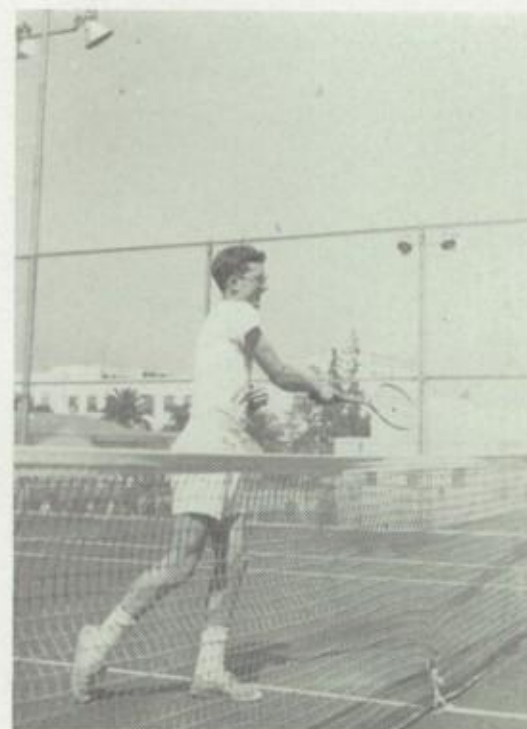

Under the leadership of Coach Ken Smith, the varsity tennis squad scored well in both the conference and non-conference matches. Sparked by the net savvy of Joe Cohan and Frank Sata the Bulldogs scored court victories over East Los Angeles JC and John Muir College, but dropped meets to Glendale, Los Angeles City College, Ventura, and Cal Tech. Heavy rains caused the cancellation of matches in which the Red and White were favored. More misfortune befell the varsity after that as they were left with only two of their regulars, Sata and Cohan, the rest of the squad declared ineligible.

BULLPUP

With Ken Smith doubling up with both the varsity and Bullpup tennis teams, the Pups showed a surplus of enthusiasm in all their matches. In conference play they dropped matches to El Monte, Mark Keppel, Alhambra, and Whittier while picking up a victory against Alhambra. Though the team's victories were few, they showed a fine spirit and sportsmanship throughout the year.

VARSIITY

Coach Otto Anderson's Varsity track team produced two Western State Conference Champions this year to be added to the many other champions produced at PCC by Mr. Anderson. John Stellern, sensational shot put champion of last year, developed into an even greater threat to his conference opponents and took not only the conference championship but is now rated seventh in roster of present United States shot putters. Otto Anderson's other champion was pole vault ace Don Hauser, a little speedy young man who accomplished a 12' 8 $\frac{7}{8}$ " record for the Pasadena colors. Standing out in the track events were Ray Mannion, Ernest Lindo, and Ted James.

BULLPUP "A"

The Bullpup "A" track squad, coached again this year by Mickey Anderson, developed into one of the best co-ordinated teams ever produced by the high school tracksters. With the miraculous Don White leading the team in the 440 and 220 yard dash, Don Shoemaker on the shot put, Lee Conover in the pole vault, and John Wells broad jumping and combining with White on the track, Coach Anderson had a team of which he could be justifiably proud. The teamwork and sportsmanship of the Pups was in evidence throughout the season, as they proved to be tough competition for their conference opponents.

The aim of the Women's Athletic Association is to promote interest and skill among women students through participation in a variety of sports, and social events, such as parties and finales. Membership is open to any girl who takes part in one or more sports.

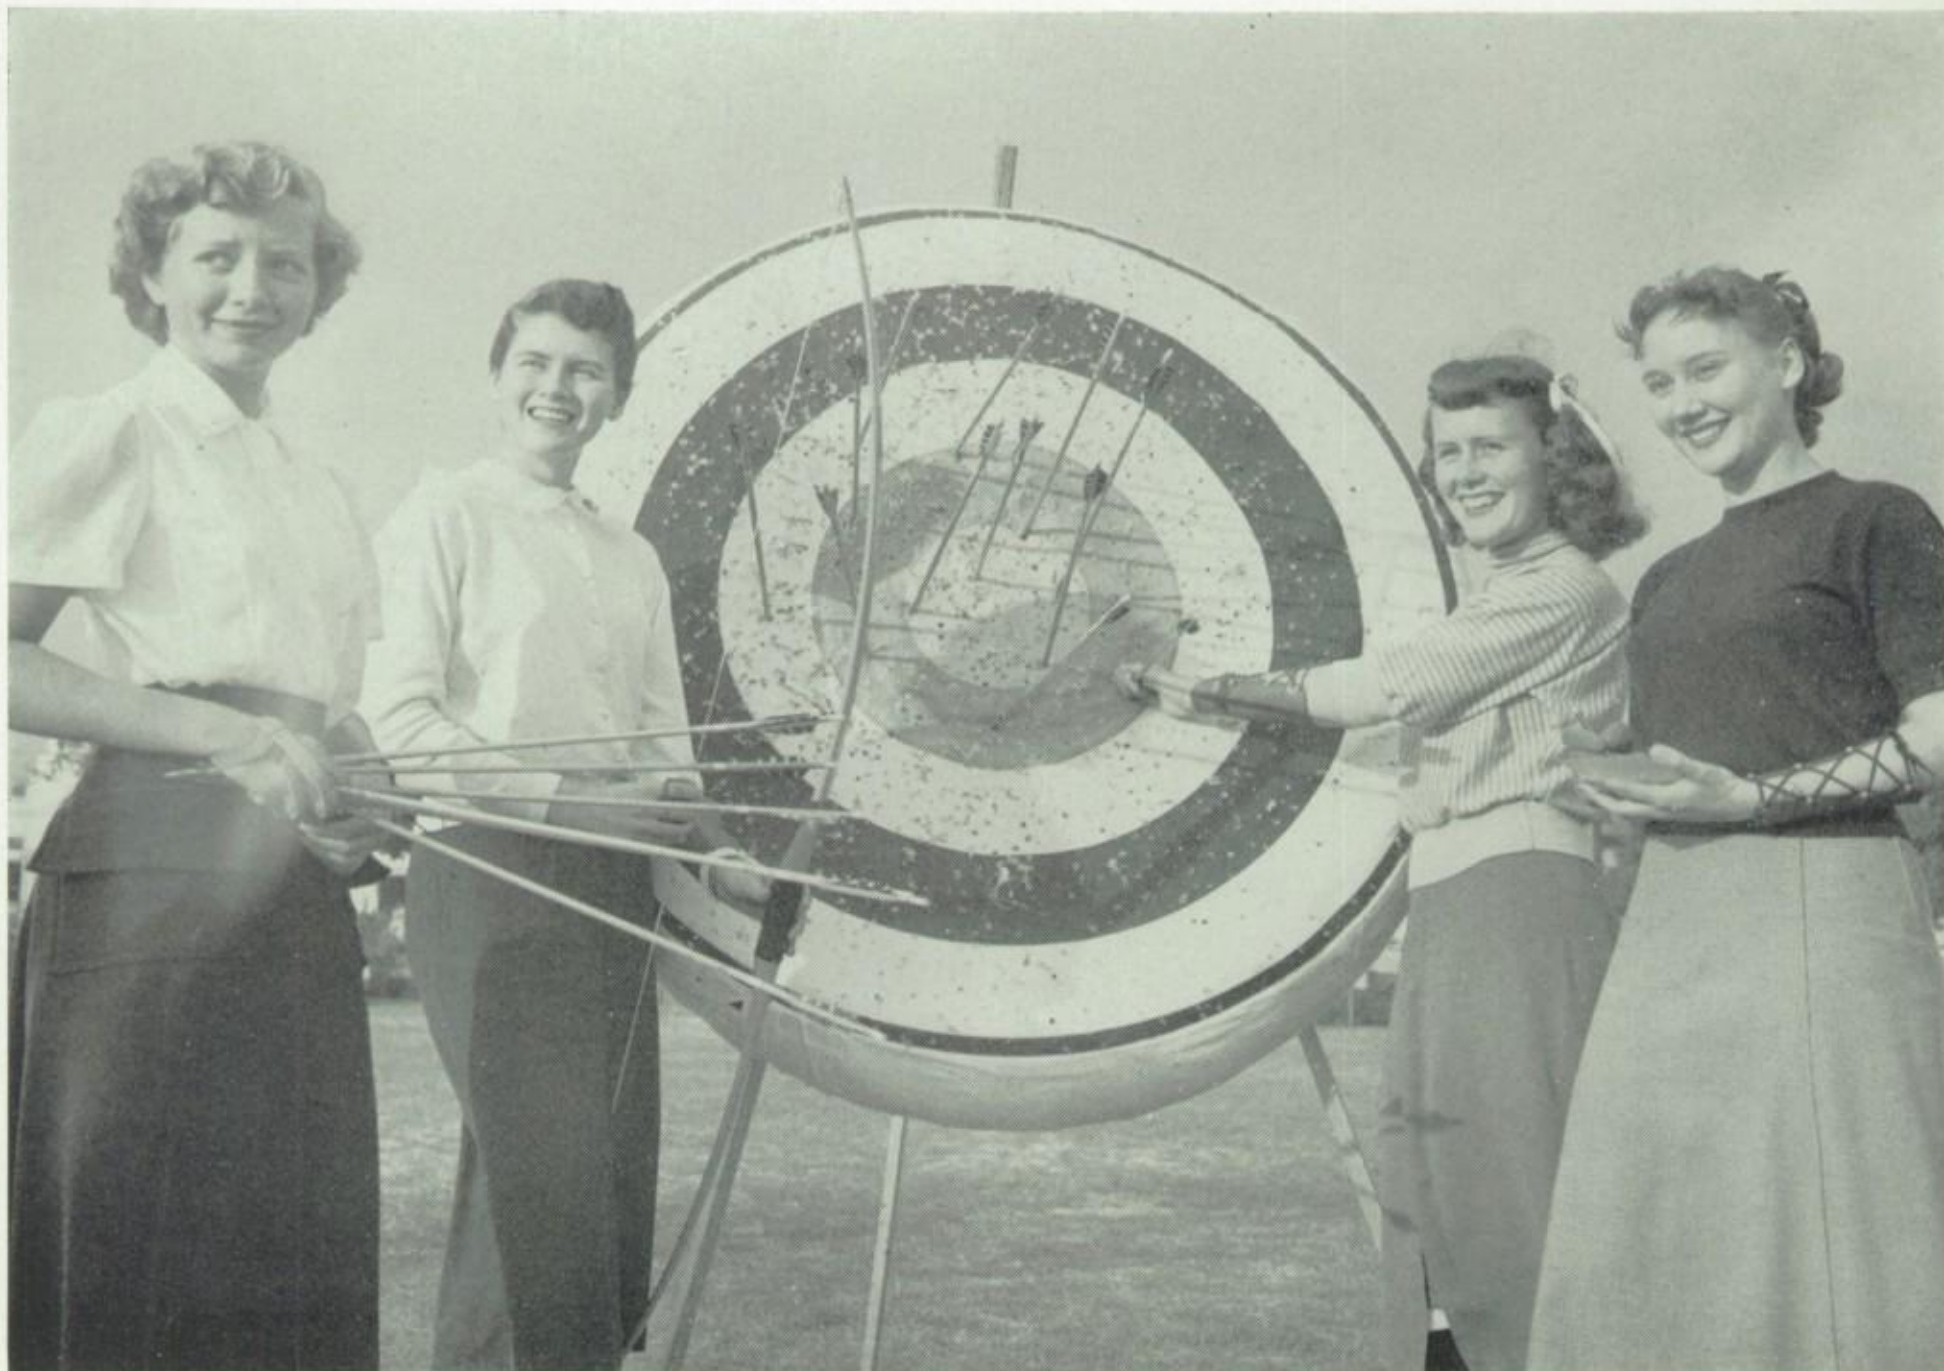

Under the combined leadership of Donna Rhoades, president, first semester, and Nancy Hayes, president, second semester, and the assistance of Una Wickes, adviser, WAA undertook several projects such as a joint Hallowe'en party with Muir and a joint splash party with AWS, a faculty tea, a donut sale, and a banquet honoring its outstanding members.

The white sweater with the big red "P" symbolizes achievement to the athletic girl at PCC. The Women's Letter Club, headed by Pat Eggers and Sylvia Smythe, had several projects this year including the vending of cokes and peanuts at boxing matches, a booth in conjunction with WAA at the OMD carnival, and a spring banquet.

Election to this outstanding athletic honorary organization is made possible only after winning seven team credits, and securing approval of the Women's Letter Board and the Women's Physical Education Department according to a rating chart. A girl is rated on her athletic ability, sportsmanship, service to the club, reliability, leadership, and personality and appearance.

A silver loving cup is awarded each year to the outstanding graduate athlete.

Archery enjoyed two fine seasons this fall and spring. The turnout for the fall season was more numerous. Nora Martinez and Elizabeth Horton coached the teams through a telephone meet with Muir in which we won four out of five games. High scorers were Patsy Woodbridge and Pat Eggers with scores of 293 and 283 respectively.

Varsities were awarded to Pat Dean, Marilyn Ferguson, Nancy Hayes, Gail Ledwidge, and Pat Thorne. Honorable mentions went to Barbara Baker and Patsy Woodbridge.

The WAA speedball season had a large intramural slate with eight teams participating in roundrobin tournaments. In the only inter-scholastic activity of the season, our kickers won two games out of four from Muir. Coaching the teams were Donna Irwin, manager, and Eugenia Minas, adviser.

Hard-earned varsities went to Shirley Burkovich, Pat Dean, Virginia Evans, Mary Jane Grube, Nancy Hayes, Dot Herrmann, Donna Irwin, Betty King, Margie Mohr, Mary Moore, Jo Owens, Carol Rickes, Jone Small, and Sylvia Smythe. Honorable mentions went to Pat Connelly, Diane Douglas, Joan Myatt, Irene Oates, Donna Rhoades, Pat Thorne, Barbara Wilfong, and Arleen Wilson.

PCC's WAA basketballers hit the victory column right from the very start, losing only one major game and playing such big opponents as Compton, Muir, and LACC. Una Wickes, adviser, and Jo Owens, manager, led the teams through the successful season.

A highlight of the season was the All-Southern California Basketball Playday on November 16. PCC, as the host to 20 junior colleges, set a fine example by winning its three games.

BADMINTON

A record turnout of 160 girls swelled the ranks of the racket-slingers this season. Under the leadership of Pauline Brown, adviser, and Mary Jane Grube, manager, WAA emerged from the badminton season with a record of 18 games won out of 36 played with John Muir, its cross-town rival.

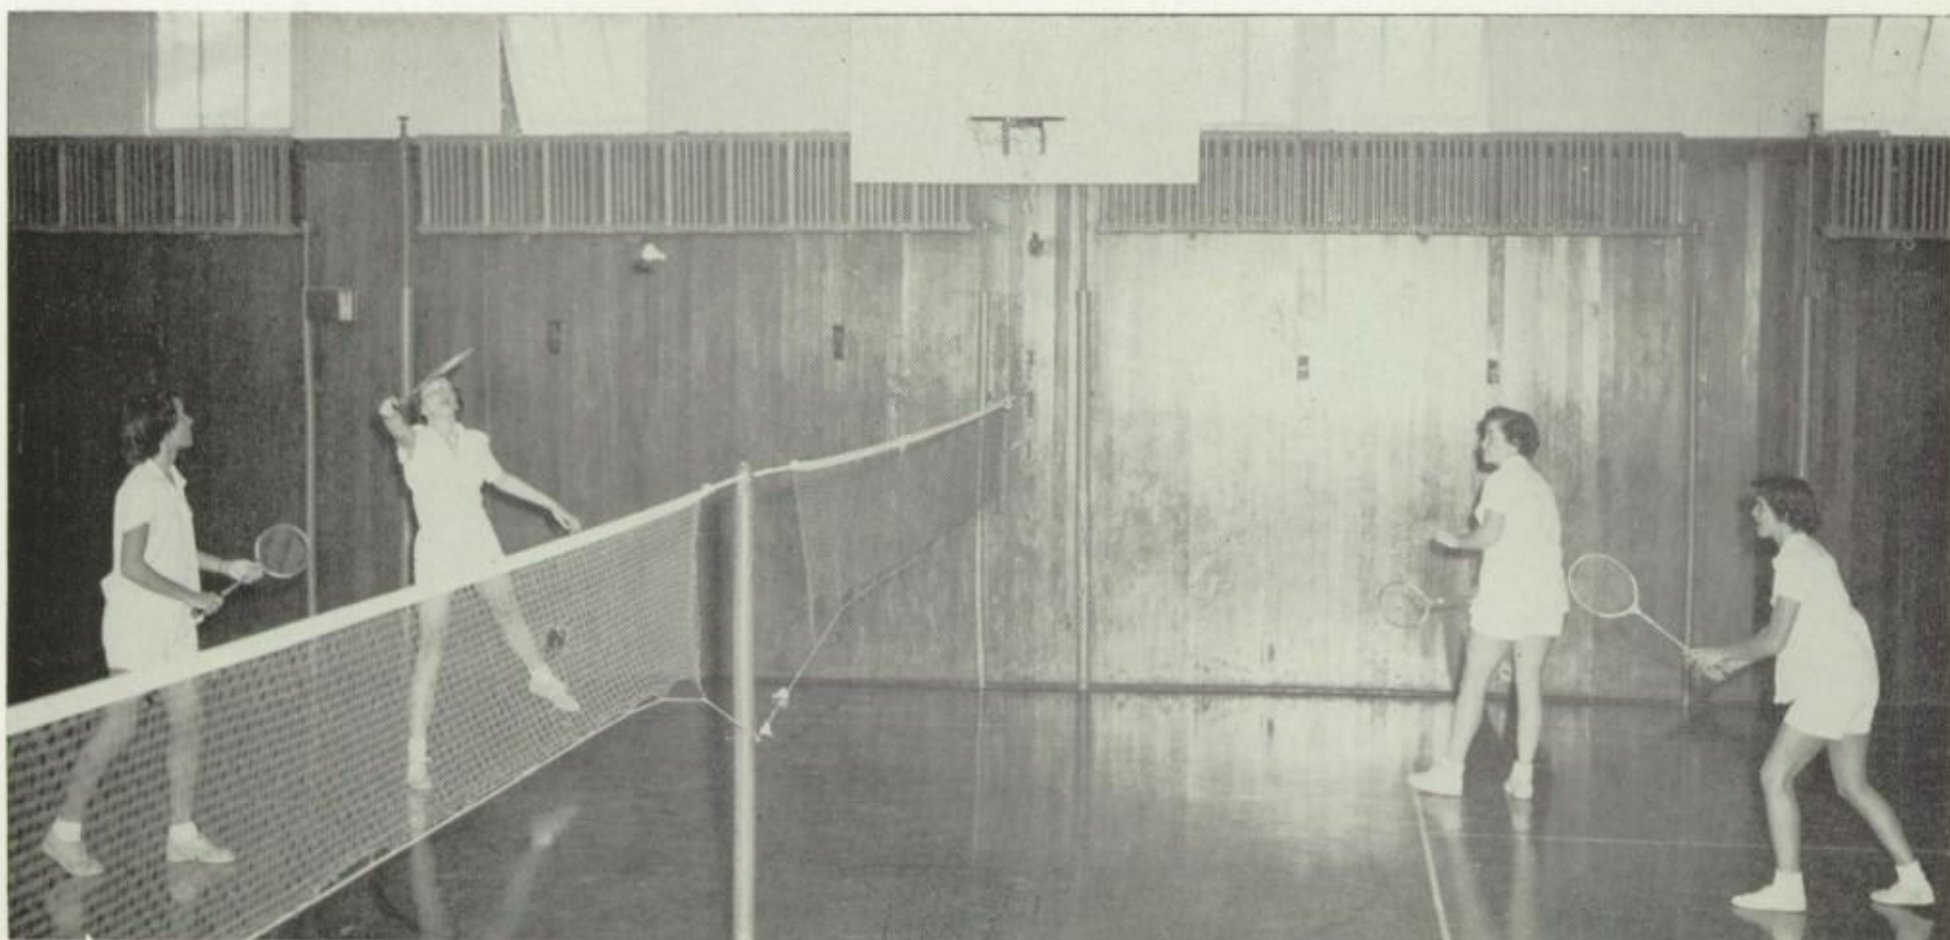

Winners of varsity letters were Pat Dean, Pat Eggers, Dot Herrmann, and Mary Jane Grube. Honorable mentions went to Nancy Hayes, Joan Myatt, and Jo Owens.

This year's puck-tossers formed ten intramural teams with Barbara Baker, Ruth Haugen, Betty King, Irene Oates in the 2 o'clock squads, and Pat Connelly and Diana Douglas in the 3 o'clock turnout.

Only one interscholastic game was played this year, due to bad weather. This game with Mount San Antonio left PCC the victor by a 3-1 margin. Mary Jane Grube, manager, and Una Wickes, adviser, were responsible for this successful season.

NURSING EDUCATION

Through affiliation of the Huntington Memorial Hospital School of Nursing with Pasadena City College, in 1930, training for professional nursing is now an important part of the Life Science Department curriculum. This program had its inception in 1920 when the Pasadena Hospital School of Nursing, an institution which has been in existence since 1900, in an effort to expand its educational program, appealed to the Pasadena Junior College for help. The request to use the facilities of the well-equipped laboratories of the college in anatomy, physiology, bacteriology, chemistry, and foods and nutrition was met with favor. An agreement was reached between the two institutions, and the students in nursing were transported by bus to the college to attend classes in these laboratory subjects. Miss Mabel B. Peirson, Chairman of the Life Science Department at that time, envisioned a plan whereby the two community institutions, Pasadena City College and the Huntington Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, might develop a more efficient educational program for students in nursing. Under the administrative leadership of Dr. John A. Sexson, former Superintendent of Pasadena City Schools, she appeared before the Board of Education and the citizens of Pasadena to explain her recommendations, because at this time such a plan was a radical departure from the existing patterns in nursing. After numerous conferences, the cooperative enterprise was launched and a written agreement was signed by both parties in 1930.

Utilizing the instructional staff and facilities of the college, a pre-nursing curriculum was outlined in agreement with prevailing national standards in nursing education. Two qualified junior college instructors, holding California teacher's credentials as well as certificates as registered nurses, were then employed by the Board of Education and assigned to serve under the jurisdiction of the Life Science Department of the Junior College. These instructors taught at the School of Nursing, but shared the privileges and responsibilities of other members of the Junior College faculty.

This cooperative enterprise continued with the addition of added faculty members from time to time as needs developed. Since the affiliation was first made, 548 professional nurses have been graduated from this program, many of whom are now serving in various capacities and places.

In March, 1952, Dr. William B. Langsdorf, principal of Pasadena City College, was appointed to membership on a national advisory committee to study and plan for further development of junior college nursing education.

FRESHMAN CAMP

More than 425 freshmen, student leaders and faculty, each September, encamp for a day and a night high in the San Jacinto Mountains for our annual Freshman Camp. Designed to ease the new students' transition from junior high school to junior college, Frosh Camp was started by the SCA in 1949. With the camp's rapid increase in size and importance, the Guidance Department has in the past two years co-sponsored this outstanding orientation experience.

Bungalow number two moves off the campus.

Bungalow number one:
2985 Emerson Way.

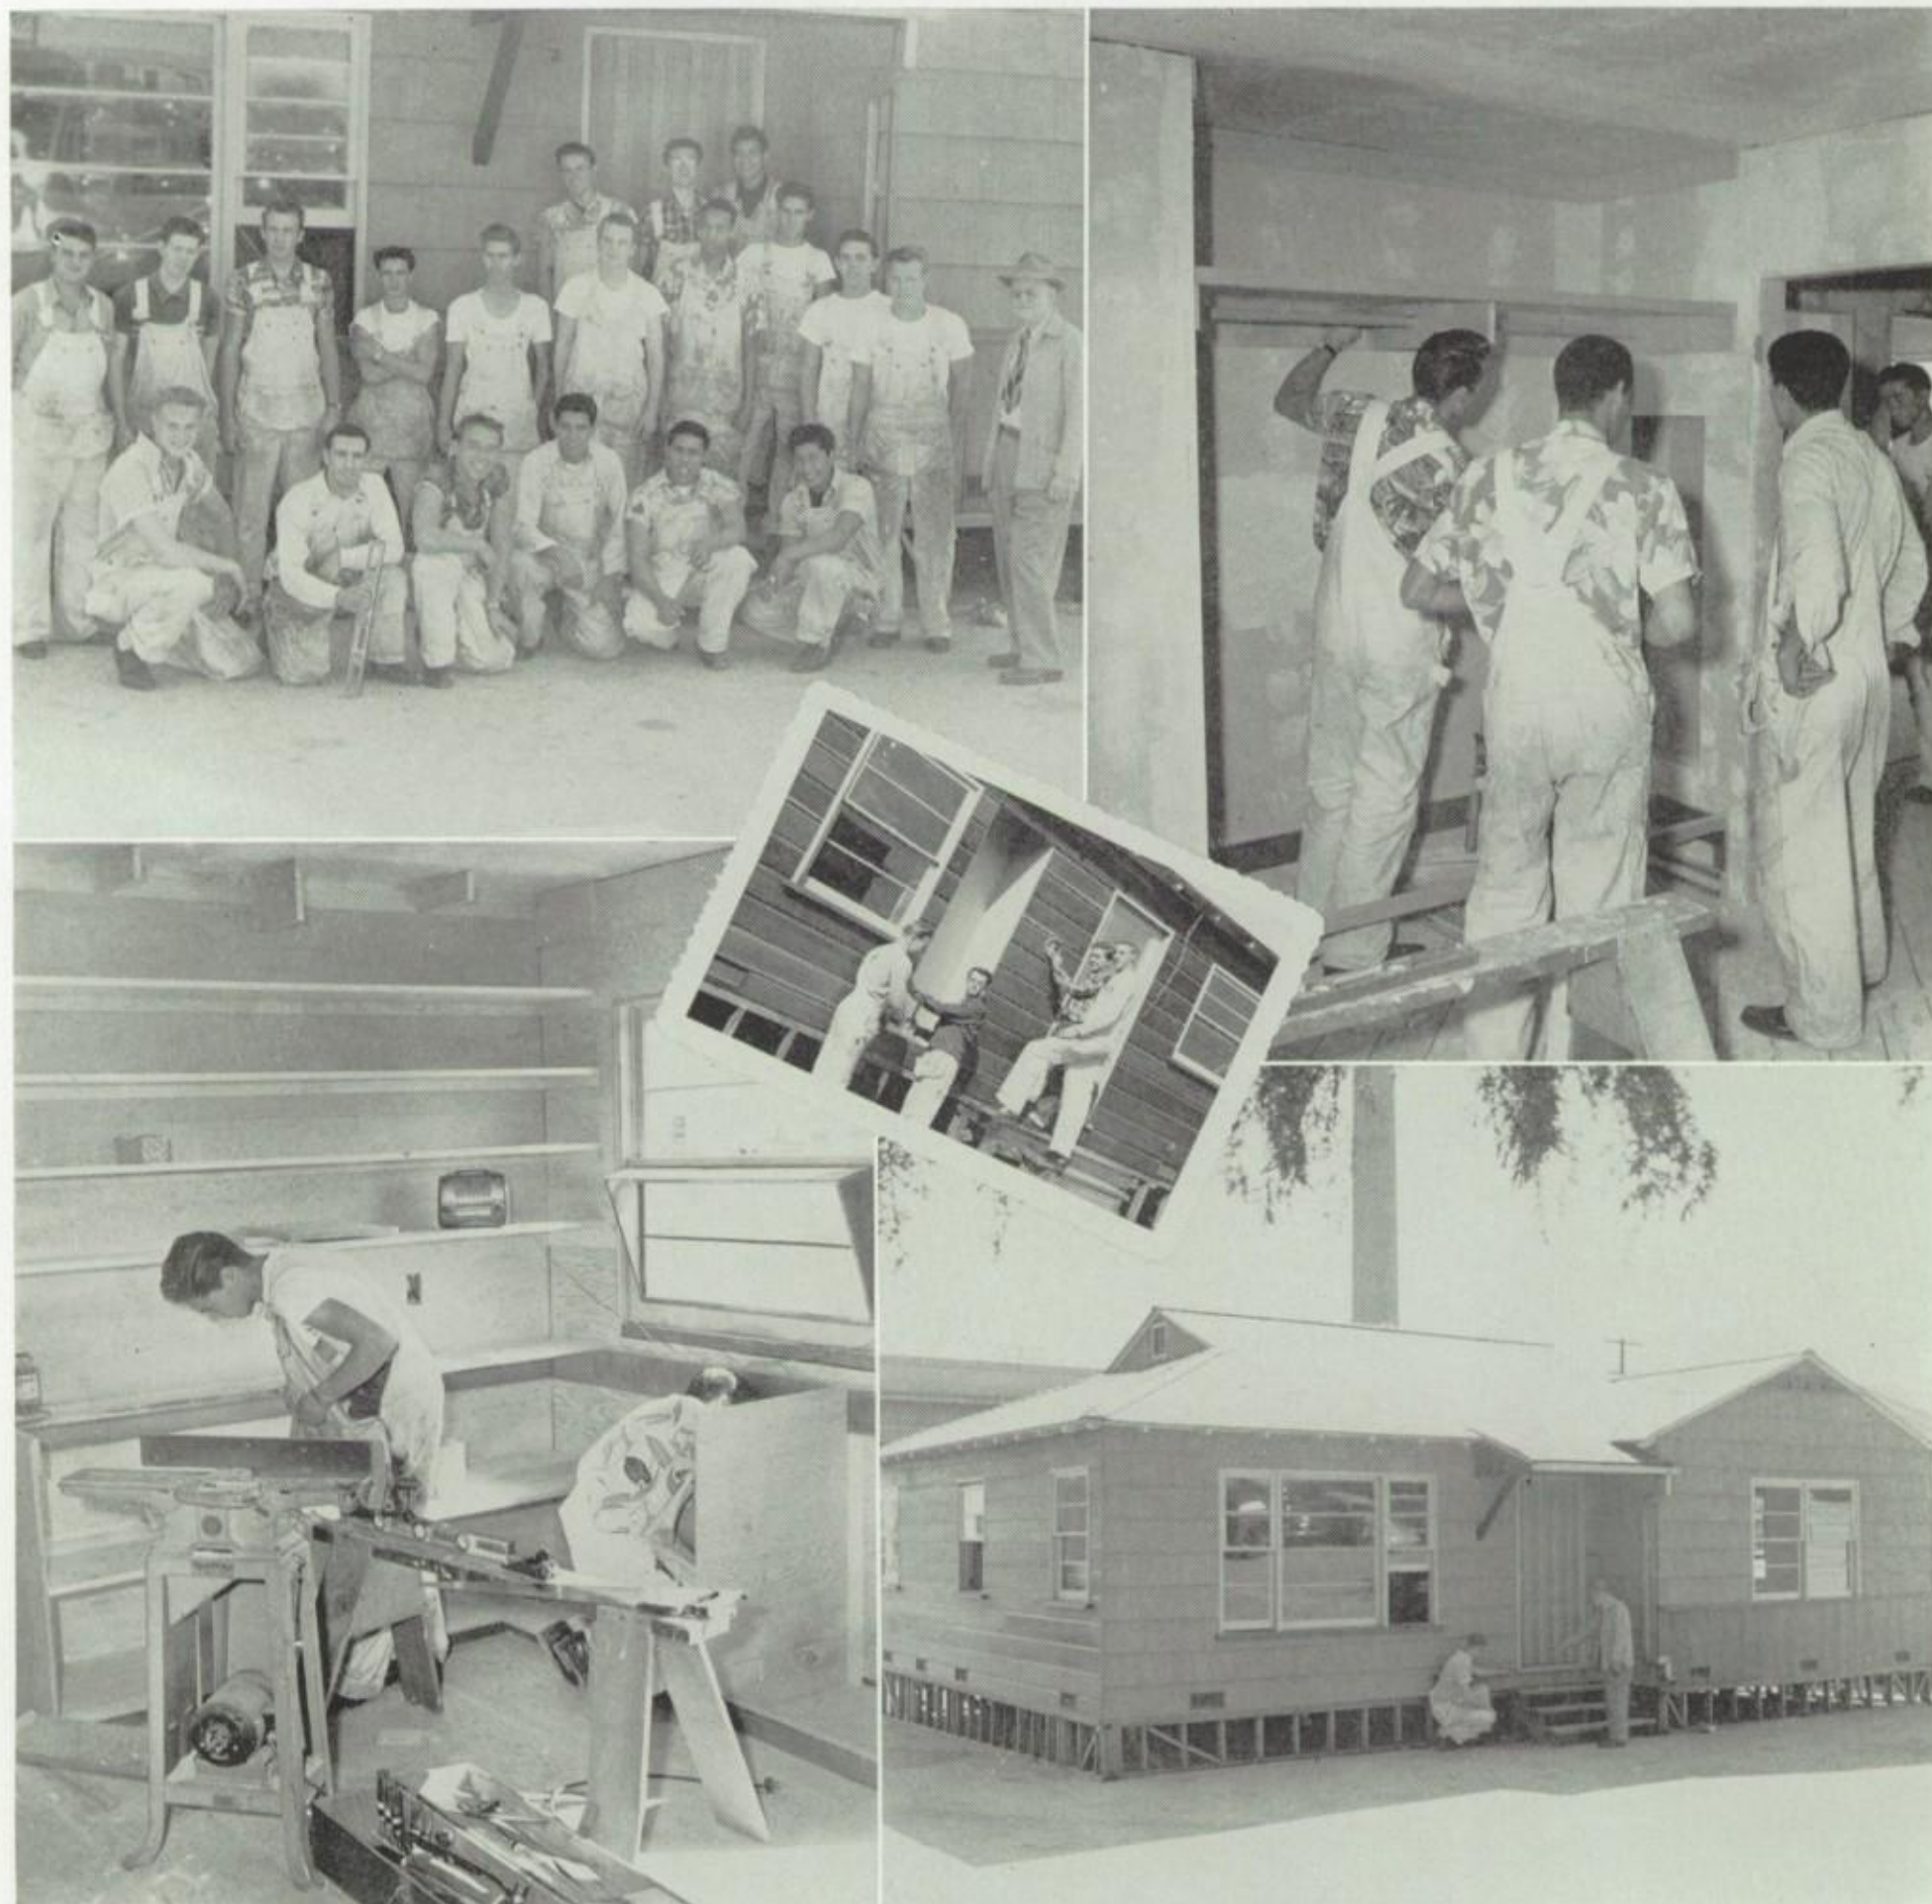

Bungalow number two:
808 East Sacramento.

The class in Building Construction, each year, plans, designs, details, mills, and builds a five-room bungalow of approximately a thousand square feet. Upon completion, the house is presented to the Pasadena Board of Education, who, in turn, advertise its sale by sealed bids, to be opened after the bungalow has been displayed for three weeks, from 10:00 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day of the week.

This thirteenth and fourteenth-year class work, designed for students, covers two years and meets four hours daily. An advisory committee of the Contractors' Association and local Carpenters' Union approve and guide the activities of the class. The specific object is to provide for the boys adequate preparation in order to obtain gainful employment in the building trades.

This bungalow is the outgrowth of actual on-the-job experience, not only for carpenters but for all of the allied building trades.

EXTENDED DAY

Pasadena City College is a community college offering educational opportunities to the youth and adults of the San Gabriel Valley. Many of the regular-day credit classes are extended into the late afternoon and evening hours for the convenience of college students and adults. In addition to extending the day program, the college also offers a variety of adult education classes of general interest as well as forums and lectures on a non-credit basis. This total offering is called the Extended Day program.

Extended Day enrolls approximately 25,000 adults in classes and forums each year. These activities are held in as many as 60 sites. More than 70 community groups cooperate in planning and operating the program.

Adult education is a California institution of long standing. It has been an integral part of the public school system since 1856. In its important aspects, it is a state program that is organized and administered by the local school district.

One may enroll in Extended Day classes without registration or tuition fee. Enrollment in non-credit classes is taken throughout the semester in the classroom during the class session. Enrollment in classes offering credit is taken prior to the opening of school and during the first two weeks of each semester.

A student can gain college credit for graduation from the twelfth or the fourteenth grades, and for transfer to colleges and universities by attending Extended Day credit classes. Parent education is provided through classes held each week for pre-school children and their parents.

Forums and lecture series provide outstanding speakers throughout the year on such topics as psychology, child guidance, and public affairs. Most of these series are offered to the public without charge.

John E. Twomey is in charge of Extended Day administration and Albert V. Bean is coordinator. Lowell Barker is assistant coordinator.

The 1951-52 season of the Tuesday Evening Forum was one of the most successful in the 15 years of the Forum's history at Pasadena City College. A capacity membership of over 2100 was reached two months before the season opened. The lectures, discussions, and motion pictures were of highest quality and were received enthusiastically by the large audience, which included many of the regular students.

The Forum is one of the many ways in which Pasadena City College contributes to community life and is certainly one of the activities which has a direct continuing appeal for students after graduation.
